What's been key to your career success? Never overdo it. If you have too many projects, you start losing focus. I only do one or two projects at a time, and I pay a lot of attention to detail. In racing, if you make a mistake coming into a turn, you pay the consequences. Same thing in real estate. If you make a mistake at the beginning of a project, you pay the price at the end. You need to plan, plan, plan and plan again.
